

MENTality Student Success Model

1. The student must be on time/present in class every day and be willing to make up work if classes are missed in the desired time given by his teacher.
 - Parent must assure children have adequate rest and a healthy breakfast free from candy and junk food.
2. The student must study, read material offered in class, commit course work to memory, and prep for class prior to class.
2. The student must learn to advocate for himself.
 - Attending coach class, using effective communication skills with teachers and authority figures, use tools that would promote success, and have success driven companion support and provide accountability
4. The student must track their progress regularly (Have compassion for yourself and commit to the process.)
5. The student must participate and activities that ensure balance in their lives socially, emotionally, spiritually and mentally along with building/maintaining a healthy support system to ensure accountability and compassion for the student's goals.
